BOXERS' WINNINGS ENRICH MANAGERS

The Reason Why Fighters Give Up Half of Their Earnings.

EASY MARKS FOR GRAFTERS.

"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien a Good Example of What a Pug Can Do For Himself.

Why is it that fighters so willingly give up half their earnings to managers who, in nine cases out of ten, are of no benefit

The answer is easy. Most fighters are marks for grafting managers for the reason that, as a class, they are ignorant men, who do not know how to take care themselves physically, let alone handle, their own business affairs.

According to A. M. Gilliam they feel great confidence in their ability to whip almost anyone in the ring, but fear to take a chance with any sort of a dub club manager when it comes to sparring over the amount they are to re-ceive for whipping someone. This lack of confidence gives the "nervy sport" of confidence gives the "nervy sport who lives by his wits a chance to but he and manage the money end of the affair for the lighter and see that he gets "all that is coming to him," less, of course, the percentage deducted for personal services by the self-appointed manager, who very likely may in the end become the manager in fact of the fighter making all his matches, dictating terms not only as to the conditions regulating his nights, but deciding who he shall not meet.

There are cases where the manager has been of great service to the lighter, pushing him ahead fusier than he could ever have hoped to go alone. Jim Corbett and Battling Nelson are, perhaps, the best flustrations in this class. Brily Bray, who managed Corbett, made an actor of him, starting the tuition two days after Corbett won from John L. Suaivan, at New Orleans. Brady got haif Corbett's money for a number of years, including the great fight at Carsen City, in which Corbett lost to Fitzsimmons, and in his early theatrical Thy, in which Corpett fost to Fitzons, and in his carry theatrical Gans played foxy, and by deceiving his manager, just as his manager had made him deceive the public, he was able to cut loose before he was all in. Gans now declares that he was made to fake in biany of his contests by his manager, who saw how he could make thore money by losing than by winning.

Epilepsy St. Vitus Dance

Are nerve diseases, and unless checked, lead to destruction of both mind and body. The weak, shattered nerves must have something to strengthen and build them back to health. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a remarkable nerve tonic and stimulant. It strengthens the nerves, relieves the nervous strain, and influences refreshing body-building sleep and rest. Persistent use seldom fails to relieve these afflictions. 'I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for our family physician but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nervine and a box of Nerve and Liver Fills. I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. You may use this as a life-long testimonial to the merits of your medicine, for I am enjoying the best of health, and feel that my life and health is due to this wonderful medicine."

FAILED TO BREAK RECORD. Air Currents Did Not Go Right for Balloon.

Golconda. II. May 1.—Captain De F. Chandler. United States signal service, and J. C. McCoy of New York, failed to break the long-distance balloon record and to win the Lahm cup. The balloon, which left St. Louis at 7:29 Tuesday evening, landed five miles north of Golconda at 2:30 this afternoon.

To have won the Lahm cup the balloon would have had to go more than 402 miles. Golconda is only 130 miles from St. Louis. Changeable air currents demonstrated to the aeronauts that they could not win the cup, and for that reason they made the landing near here. The balloon made an easy landing. It was brought to Golconda in wagons. McCoy will go with it from here to New York, while Chandler will go to Washington.
